

Journal of Management, Spirituality & Religion

Sharing your published work — what's allowed

Information for authors: Sharing your work

Once your manuscript is published by the Journal of Management, Spirituality & Religion (JMSR) you may reference it and share the metadata. You may not place the full text on any platform. For questions, contact the publisher at jmsr.subscriptions@gmail.com.

| I want to share my work(the Version ofRecord/Publisher PDF)... | Details                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ...for teaching in the classroom                                       | ✓ YesUnlimited print copies                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| ...in my thesis or dissertation                                        | ✓ YesVoR can be included in print version.Author Accepted Manuscript must be used in electronic version.                                                                                                                                                              |
| ...at a conference                                                     | Up to 25 copies. If you require more, please contact the publisher at jmsr.subscriptions@gmail.com .                                                                                                                               |
| ... by reusing extracts in other works authored by me                  | ✓ Yes                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| ...by republishing in a non-commercial publication                     | ✓ YesYou can include your work in any future publications, providing that you are the named author or editor of the new work.                                                                                                                                             |
| ...by republishing in a commercial publication                         | ✓ Yes, but...You can include your work in any future publications, providing that you are the named author or editor of the new work; and providing the publisher requested permission from the journal publisher first.                                                  |
| ...via an email to colleagues                                          | ✓ YesTo individuals for personal use only.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| ...in a grant or funding application                                   | ✓ Yes                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| ...via social media or in a blog                                       | X NoYou may provide the metadata of your work (including the abstract) and must provide the digital object identifier (DOI) to the version of record.                                                                                                                     |
| ...via my personal company; or not-for-profit website                  | X NoYou may provide the metadata of your work (including the abstract) and must provide the digital object identifier (DOI) to the version of record.                                                                                                                     |
| ...in my institutional repository                                      | X NoYou may provide the metadata of your work (including the abstract) and must provide the digital object identifier (DOI) to the version of record.                                                                                                                     |
| ...via a scholarly collaboration network or subject repository         | X NoOn platforms such as Research Gate or Academia, you may provide the metadata of your work (including the abstract) and must provide the digital object identifier (DOI) to the version of record.You may invite users to request the full text from you directly. |